Essential clean lines for contemporary design

Stilleben™ is an Italian brand, created in 2017, whose primary goal is to celebrate Italian craftsmanship. The brand name Stilleben™ is the German for “still life”. Specifically, the contemporary still life of the great masters like Giorgio Morandi, who portrays the world of common objects: vases, glasses, bottles, bowls. Everyday objects distinguished by pastel colours and attention to volumes. Through the search for essential clean lines and synthesis, Stilleben™ designs and creates its own products. With a careful look at the choice on the colour scale, the quality of the materials and a formal search for the essence of things.

“Natura morta in German is called with another name, more beautiful and more right, the name is Stilleben, quiet life”

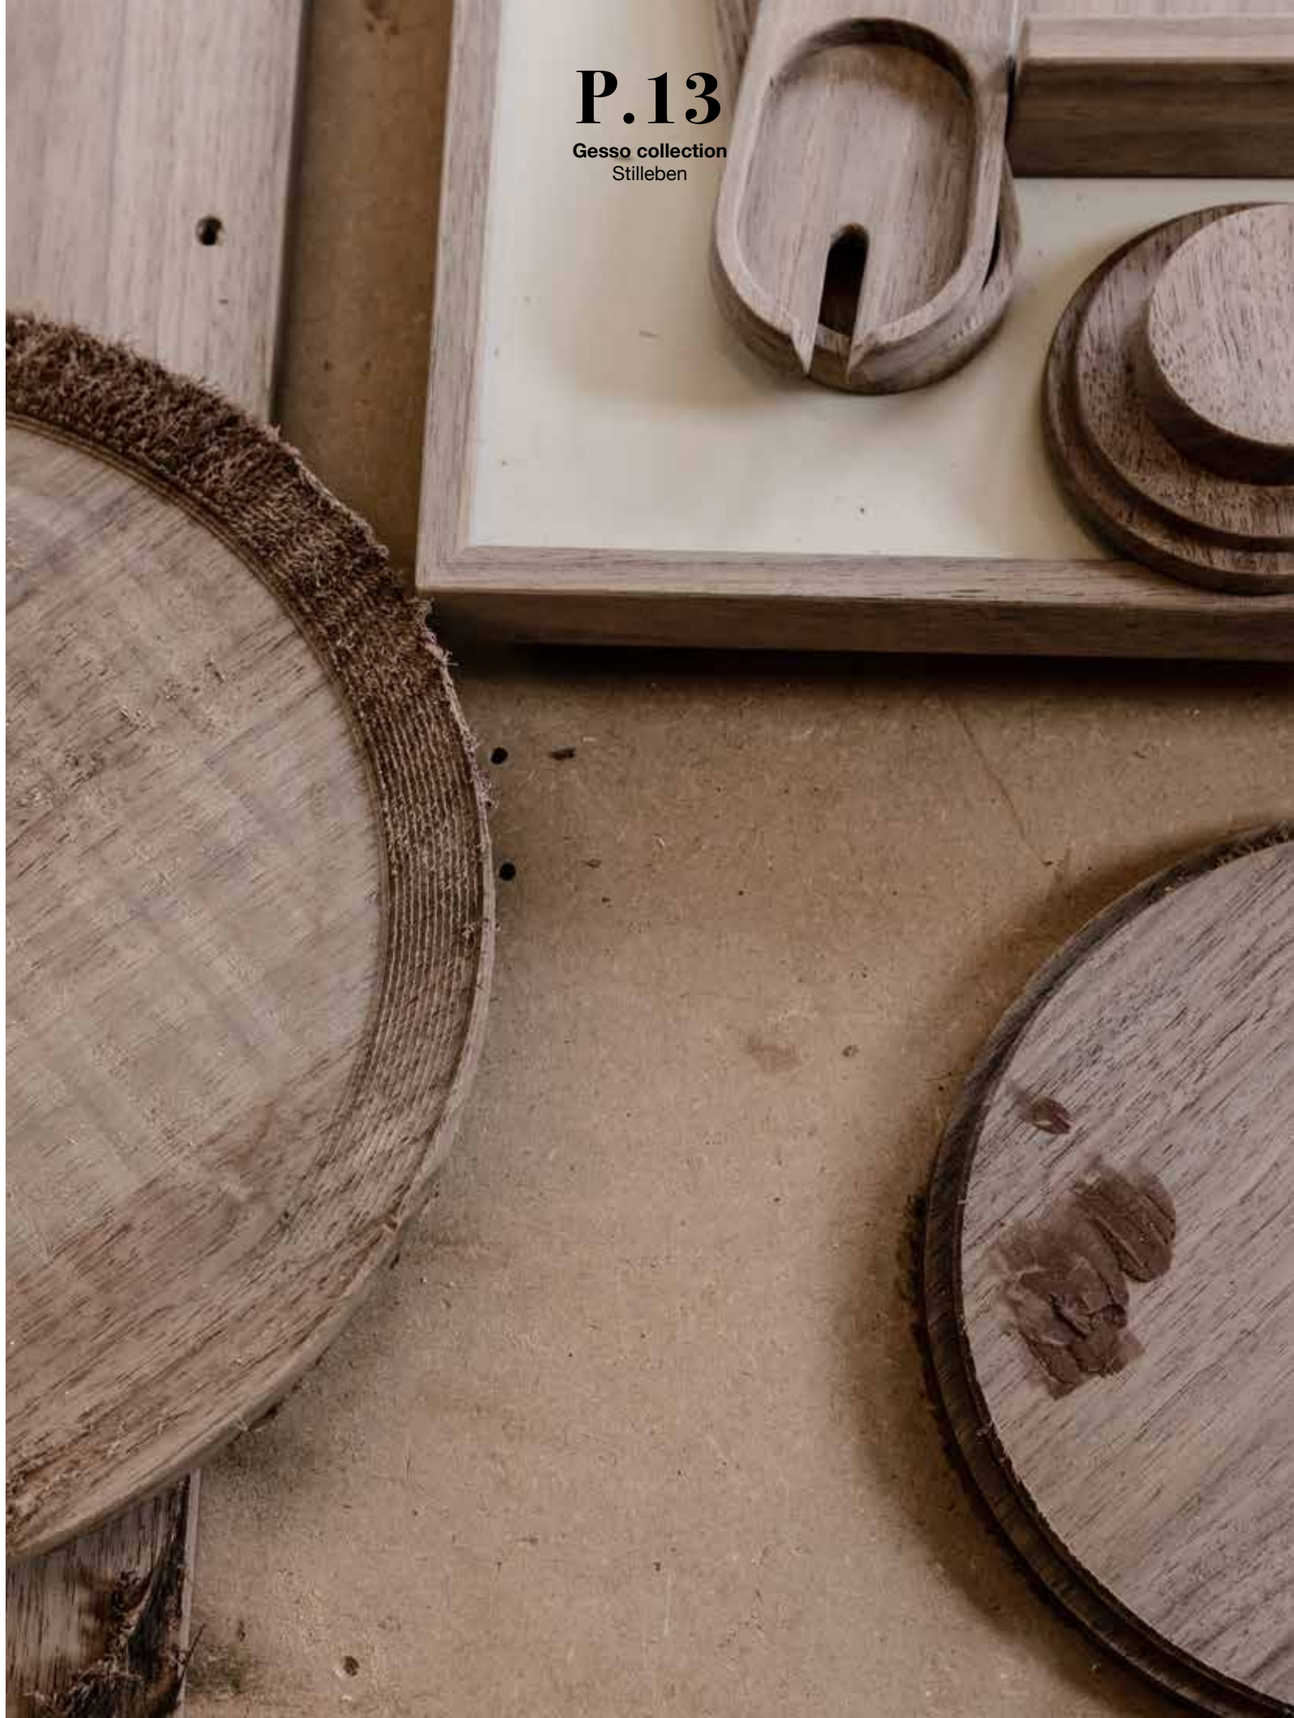
Artisanal Production

The Ceramic

For our tableware services, the quality of the material is crucial and that is why we have chosen vitrified stoneware, one of the most prized ceramics because it provides the best quality guarantees in terms of durability, lack of absorption of liquids, frost resistance easy to clean and being proof against any type of stain. It's not so simple to work. During firing, it shrinks in volume by 13%, vitrifies, and if the shapes have not been studied to perfection, they do not pass the "test" set by the kiln, which reaches 1200 °C.
Owing to its extraordinary hardness and resistance, vitrified stoneware makes a timeless tableware collection. The star of the collection is the surface, which has a solid and opaque exterior that absorbs light whereas inside it is glossy and reflects the light. Each customized production run passes through different phases that go from pouring into the mother mould to glazing, to firing in the muffle kiln and the final quality control. Each product, being handcrafted, is always slightly different from the next one in shape, finish and colour variations so that each one is an absolutely unique item. Therefore the irregularity of the shape is an intrinsic feature of the product.

The Wood

Italian walnut is an integral part of the collection. It is one of the finest woods for making furnishing complements, especially for the table. The close grain of the walnut wood means it can be easily and efficiently assembled to create stable, durable objects that are well finished and are not subject to warping over time. The greyish brown colour with light lines that vary from reddish to black and the straight veining that is always attractive to see are the physical properties that have most contributed to the success of walnut. Whilst walnut, like any other wood, can absorb or release humidity according to the climatic conditions of the environment, it is the wood that shrinks and swells least.
Italian walnut is increasingly difficult to source and is considered to be a product of the highest quality.



The Hemp

Our fabric is made of pure hemp, a noble fibre that is hard to come by and is of much higher quality than more common products like linen and cotton. Of all the natural fibres, it is the one that is most resistant to wear and to tears, three times more so than cotton, thus making the products harder wearing. Natural hemp is also immune to mites, mould, fungus, bacteria and moths. It does not produce allergies or conduct electricity.
Moreover, hemp fibre is an everlasting, natural plant material that makes our life more intimate, responsible and respectful of the environment. During its growth cycle, hemp does not require pesticides, herbicides, chemical products or fertilizers. Its deep roots improve the quality of the land by feeding it with nitrogen. In addition, by absorbing the minerals, which are concentrated in the leaves, hemp crops do not damage the land on which it is cultivated.

Gesso collection
Stilleben

Gesso is the first result of the search for essential clean lines and synthesis which Stilleben™ apply to the design and production of its product.

The collection is inspired by the tactile, material and opaque surfaces of the chalk, done by the porcelain which is handcrafted as all the materials used for the collection.

The materials are selected for their specific qualities and inherent potential after an exhaustive and passionate research: for our tableware services, the pocelain which, baking at 1200°C, is a very resistance material; for the textiles, the hemp, a noble fibre of considerable resource and hard to come by; for wooden complements, the national walnut, one of the finest woods thanks to the close grain.
